Quest Estimating Launches Newly Enhanced Website

Quest Estimating Pty. Ltd., has launched a newly redesigned website at its existing web address of www.questestimating.com.au. The new site offers improved navigability and some new features, along with a bold new look.

Says Eric Silcott, a principal for Quest Estimating, “The new site is far more user-friendly than the previous version. Now it’s better organised, which makes finding information easier. We were looking for ways to improve our prospects’ online experience, and we’re quite pleased with the results.”

Among the new features are an option to initiate a free phone call to Quest Estimating right from the web page utilising a service called Idacall. To do this, the prospect simply clicks an onscreen icon and enters his or her phone number. Idacall then rings the prospect’s phone and connects them with Quest Estimating at no charge.

Quest Estimating Pty. Ltd. supports both Australia and New Zealand, providing Quest’s cutting edge technology for contractors to help them build successful, profitable businesses.
